

At Chicago Title we depend on Technical ProSource to provide our Information Systems Team with IT professionals. The caliber of the candidates provided is the best I've encountered during any of my interviews. Technical ProSource has also proven to be very flexible in meeting our changing business needs.

On two different occasions I contacted Technical ProSource to request candidates on short notice. They were able to provide exceptional candidates and fill our needs. The individuals Technical ProSource sent were knowledgeable, enthusiastic, and professional, and have proven to be assets for Chicago Title's Information Systems Team. Additionally, my observations have convinced me that Technical ProSource genuinely cares about their contractors. In certain instances they have even extended themselves to the point of offering their candidates advanced training. This level of commitment is instrumental in not only providing a long-term commitment to their contractors, but also in placing competent candidates into the work force.

We greatly appreciate the professionalism of Technical ProSource, their commitment to our satisfaction, and the candidates they provide. We intend to continue our successful relationship indefinitely.

Sincerely,

Supervisor - Information Systems
